ShopRite on May 21, 2014. The screenings were provided as part of Doylestown Hospital's Health Connections Program, a community outreach program initiated with ShopRite in 2013.

This is the second Health Connections program Dr. Stone, a Community staff member at Doylestown Hospital, has participated in at the Warminster ShopRite. At the prior program, Dr. Stone was on hand to address questions on overall oral health. At this program, Dr. Stone made use of OralID™, an oral cancer screening device used in his practice, which relies on fluorescence technology to identify oral cancer, pre-cancer and other abnormal lesions at an earlier stage, According to Forwards Science Technologies LLC, manufacturer of OralID, oral cancer kills one American every hour of every day.

“Oral cancer is very difficult to treat and cure, causing severe hardships on those who contract it,” remarks Dr. Stone. “Detecting it early gives you the best chance for survival.”
